Grow your own Garlic

1. Plant garlic between middle October and middle November

2. Break the garlic bulbs into segments (cloves). Keep skin on each clove.

3. Fill grow bag two thirds with compost, and place four cloves on top of compost each facing the same direction.

4. Cover with 2 cm more of compost.

5. Make a 'garlic' label and add to your plant pot. Place outside. Add chopped leaves or straw on top if you have them.

6. No need to water until spring, but water a lot once a week from May until June (not every day).

7. Harvest your garlic about 2nd week of June when the green leaves turn yellow and bend over.

8. Gently lift the garlic out of the soil (use a hand fork if you have one) and leave on top of the soil for a few days. Try not to damage the bulb.

9. Dry in the sun and store in dry place. Use when needed. Enjoy

We hope you enjoy growing this garlic. Please tell us how you get on.

Take photos of your growing garlic and post them on our Facebook page
